The instant alternative to a pop-top

James BAROUD
TENTES - OFF - ROAD

The initial concept for this unique camping solution was developed over 20 years ago to meet the needs of overland travellers. Over the years the design has been continually upgraded and modified in to the leading clam shell pop up tent in the market place.

Since the introduction of the James Baroud range of roof top tents we have received considerable interest from a diverse range of end users looking for additional camping space for their day vans and extended sleeping quarters for those with campers, so it is with great pride that we introduce the James Baroud brand.
